His sons, William and Herbert, have been summoned.

LIVELY SCRAP

Between Spaniards and Allied Forces.

The Brush Brought On By the Landing of Supplies at Banes.

Key West, July 27.—(Special).—A lively battle occurred at Banes, Pinar del Rio, July 23, between a Spanish column and Cuban insurgents and members of the expedition on the little steamship Wanderer under Capt. Heard, of the Third cavalry, with provisions for the insurgents in the Western provinces. Two of the crew and a number of the Cubans were slightly hurt.

The Spaniards were driven off and the Cubans with the ammunition and food from the Wanderer started for the interior of the island.

DELAY

Has Lost the Chance to Take Porto Rico.

Spain Asks For Peace and Throws Up The Sponge.

Washington, July 26.—(Special).—The Spanish government through M. Jules Cambon, the French ambassador, made yesterday evening what might be called a formal proposal for ending the war and arranging terms of peace to the United States to-day.

Mr. Cambon called personally on the President and the secretary of state and presented a note authorized by the Spanish minister of foreign affairs, embodying the initial overtures of the government at Madrid. An hour after the interview ended the President directed that the following official statement should be given to the press:

"White House, 4:50 p. m.—The French ambassador, on behalf of the government of Spain, and by direction of the Spanish minister for foreign affairs, presented to the President this afternoon at the White House a message from the Spanish government looking to the termination of the war and settlement of the terms of peace."

Although the proposition came in the nature of a surprise, the President has been aware since yesterday that something of the sort might be expected. The character of the Spanish proposal is unsatisfactory. The note is a brief affair. It does not propose any definite terms, but merely asks the United States for a statement of the terms on which it will be willing to cease hostilities and arrange a peaceful settlement with Spain.

That the administration is gratified over the recognition by Madrid that further struggle is useless, there is no doubt; but this feeling of gratification is modified by disappointment over Spain's failure to suggest terms, that might be acceptable instead of placing the United States in the awkward position of taking the first definite step. In other words, the overtures made by the enemy, render Spain liable to the suspicion of attempting to force the hand of the United States in regard to their policy concerning the disposition of conquered territory.

The President will reply to Spain's plea for peace in a few days, through the French ambassador.

Will Answer This Week.

Washington, July 27.—(Special).—After seeing the President, Secretary Day said an answer to the Spanish proposition for peace would be given late in the week. He refused to discuss the terms.

Germany's Threatening Attitude

Still Excites Comment.

Berlin, July 27.—(Special).—A number of German firms of Manila who asked their government to obtain indemnity from the United States for losses to their business through the war blockade, have received a semi-official hint to wait until the end of hostilities and in the meantime trust the German government to guard the interests of its subject.

PRICE

Of Peace Which Will Be Demanded.

Washington July 27.—(Special).—The best opinion is that the United States will as the price of peace with Spain demand 1st The independence of Cuba under the protectorate of the United States.

2nd The cession to the United States of the Island of Porto Rico.

3rd Retention by this government of a coal-station in the Philippines.

4th Retention of the Ladrone islands.

The question of money indemnity is undecided.

The Third Kentucky regiment has at last started for the front. The only regret is that Hopkinsville has no company in the regiment to receive the applause of her people. There are, however, a few Hopkinsville boys in the Frankfort and Owensboro companies, who may be expected to acquit themselves like Kentuckians and soldiers and be received with open arms when they return.

Sam J. Pugh, who has just been renominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Ninth district, has held office continuously ever since 1872, a period of twenty-six years. He was first elected City Attorney of Vanceburg, then County Attorney, Master Commissioner, County Judge, State Senator, member of the Constitutional Convention, and lastly he was elected Congressman, which office he now holds. He will be opposed this year by Jas. N. Kehoe, a young man of talent and great popularity, and as the district went Democratic last year by over 1,200 majority there is a fine prospect that the chronic office-holder may be relieved from the cares of office for once in his life.

Jake Rowe is evidently nearing the end of his official career. The following item is from his home paper, the Owensboro Messenger, that has shown a great deal of forbearance in discussing the wreck of this young man: "Commonwealth's Attorney Rowe was again indicted in the Hancock circuit court last week for drunkenness and failure to discharge his official duties. At the next term Judge Owen will appoint a special commonwealth's attorney to prosecute Mr. Rowe on this indictment."

MILES HAS LANDED.

A Small Port Selected 65 Miles
From San Juan.

Hope to Capture the Railroad But Otherwise the Boys Will Hoot It.

Guánica, Porto Rico, June 25, via St. Thomas, July 26.—Gen. Miles has landed here.

One advantage of this place is that it is situated close to the railroad connection with Ponce, which means of transportation our troops hope to secure to-day.

Early this morning the Gloucester, in charge of Lieut.-Commander Wainwright, steamed into Guánica Harbor in order to reconnoitre the place. With the fleet waiting outside the gallant little fighting yacht braved the mines which were supposed to be in the harbor and found that there were five fathoms of water close in shore.

Guánica Bay is a quiet place, surrounded by cultivated lands. In the rear are high mountains and close to the beach nestles a village of about twenty houses.

The Spaniards were completely taken by surprise. Almost at the time they knew of the approach of the army of invasion was the announcement containing in the firing of a gun from the Gloucester demanding that the Spaniards haul down their flag, which was floating from a flagstaff in front of a block-house standing to the east of the village. The first couple of three-pounders were fired into the hills right and left of the bay, purposely avoiding the town, lest the projectiles hurt women and children.

The Gloucester then hove to within about 600 yards of the shore and lowered a launch having on board a Colt rapid fire gun and thirty men under the command of Lieut. Huse, which was sent ashore without encountering opposition.

Quartermaster Beck thereupon told Yeoman Lacy to haul down the Spanish flag, which was done, and they then raised on the flagstaff the first United States flag to float over Porto Rican soil. Suddenly about thirty Spaniards opened fire with Mauser rifles on the American party. Lieut. Huse and his men responded with great gallantry, the Colt gun doing effective work. Norman, who received Admiral Cervera's surrender, and Wood, a volunteer lieutenant, shared the honors with Lieut. Huse.

Port of Guánica.

Guánica, the point of debarkation of the Porto Rican expedition forces, is a small town of 1,000 inhabitants on the southern coast of the island. On a rough calculation, it is less than twenty miles air line distant from Ponce and 65 miles from San Juan, against which the assault is to be directed. Guánica is about six miles south of Yauco, of which city it forms the port, and with which it is connected by a good road. The town is situated on a bay of the same name, which forms one of the best ports in the island. The banks to the right are steep, and form a good natural wharf. Three vessels can lie alongside and unload by means of gang planks. Vessels of thirty-foot draught can enter the bay easily and proceed close inshore. The conspicuous advantage of this port, aside from its excellent harbor facilities for the transports, is the utter absence of fortifications or mines.

Almost immediately after the Spaniards fired on the Americans the Gloucester opened fire on the enemy with all her three and six-pounders which could be brought to bear, shelling the town and also dropping shells into the hills to the west of Guánica, where a number of Spanish cavalry were to be seen hastening to the spot where the Americans had landed. Lieut. Huse then threw up a little fort which he named Fort Wainwright. Four of the Spaniards were killed and no Americans hurt. The troops were pushed forward promptly in order to capture the railroad leading to Ponce, which is only ten miles east of this place.

Miss Binnie McNeel, of Paducah, has received from a friend in Cuba a relic in the shape of a piece of the battleship Maine, which everybody just now is remembering.

RELIABILITY

is a quality some newspapers have lost sight of in these days of "yellow" journalism. They care little for truth and a great deal for temporary sensation. It is not so with THE CHICAGO RECORD. The success of THE RECORD rests upon its reliability. It prints the news—all the news—and tells the truth about it.

It is the only American newspaper outside New York city that has its own exclusive dispatch boat service and its own staff correspondents and artists at the front in both hemispheres.

It is the best illustrated daily newspaper in the world. Its war news service is unsurpassably the best. Says the Urbana (Ill.) Daily Courier:

"We read the war news in the other papers, then we turn to THE CHICAGO RECORD to see how much of it is true."

Sold by newsmen everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 154 Madison Street, Chicago.

A Virginia Paper Mad.
The Danville (Va.) Register is in a bitter mood. It says that a great deal of money is needed to run a newspaper in these days, owing to the expense of gathering war news, and that the cost of getting out the Register has increased over 33 per cent. in the past four months, the Associated Press assessments alone being increased to over 45 per cent, including the bulletins. This additional expense comes at a time when advertising in Virginia is dull. "The number of readers," says the Register, "has been very largely increased, but the vast majority of them are deadbeat readers, who are anxious to read war news and are our severest critics, but they are newspaper borrowers, deadbeats who systematically borrow the newspaper to the annoyance of their neighbors and to the injury of the Register. We contend that it is no more honest to borrow your neighbor's newspaper than it is to 'borrow' his chickens."
"At any rate, we are getting very tired of furnishing news at $30 a week to a borrowing public, and we don't intend to be mealy-mouthed about it any longer. When we can get the data we propose to expose newspaper borrowers in the same way that we expose chicken borrowers."

A CURIOUS LEAVE-TAKING.
Queer Pranks Played by the Freshmen of Johns Hopkins University.
The freshman class of the Johns Hopkins university took leave of one of its professors in a way of its own. It was the last day of the class before final examination, and the large body of students assembled with broad smiles and an air of general expectancy.
In a few moments the door opened and a messenger boy appeared with a large funeral pillow on which were embroidered the words "God Bless Our Teacher." He marched straight up to the professor, presented his funeral gift and demanded a receipt. The professor argued, but the boy didn't understand his logic, until the learned doctor looked threatening, and the boy "guessed he wouldn't wait for one."
Then signs of trouble began to appear all over the classroom. One sign bore the line, "To Keep His Memory Green," and another "Remember the Maine." Other choice and popular expressions, appropriate and inappropriate to the day, were strung up. Slowly an odor began to creep into the room. It may have been hydrogen sulphide, but it might have been anything else which hadn't any business there. It stole gently through the keyhole, stifled the students near the door and moved in waves of ever-increasing circles about the room, carrying with it all the odoriferous suggestions of myriads of eggs of the middle ages.
Suddenly in the middle of the class began to appear beasts of the field and fowls of the air. One rat was seen to dart from a crowd of students and make his way across the room, where he sought cold comfort in a last winter's radiator. A pigeon winged its way aimlessly to the back of a chair, and several students were about to make impromptu addresses, which they had carefully prepared, when President Gilman appeared upon the scene.
The students began to look innocent and shocked. The pigeon crawled back into the bosom of his erstwhile tormentor; the rat snuggled up to the radiator; the signs disappeared, and even the odor began ingloriously to take to flight and lose itself in space.
President Gilman said a few words, but they cut the overburdened atmosphere like the crack of a ten-pounder.
"It was a sad but glorious day for President Gilman," said one of the freshmen as he sought a haven of refuge in the gymnasium.—Baltimore Sun.

AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY.
Process for Disclosing the Elements of the Atmosphere.
Prof. Ramsay and Mr. Travers have recently made some interesting discoveries on the constituents of the atmosphere. Since the discovery of argon, it has been a question whether it was really an element. This was very difficult to settle, owing to the impossibility of employing any ordinary chemical test, but Prof. Ramsay and Mr. Travers announced to the Royal society of London on June 16 the results of experiments which may be summarized as follows: They prepared a large quantity of argon from atmospheric nitrogen, separating the latter gas by means of magnesium, and having liquefied it by cooling it with liquid air, they then fractionally distilled the product. The first portion, says the New York Sun, consisting of less than 100 cubic centimeters, distilled off from the liquid obtained by condensing 18 liters of argon, was found to have a density of about 13 instead of 20, which is that of argon, and its spectrum differed from that of known gases. The yellow line was less refrangible than those characteristic of helium and crypton, being especially prominent.
On continuing the distillation, after nearly the whole of the liquid argon had been evaporated, a solid was obtained which only slowly volatilized. The gas into which this solid was converted was found to be practically of the same density as argon, but its spectrum was altogether different and peculiar, consisting for the most part of bands, not lines.
It is proposed to call the lighter element neon, and that derived from the solid metargon.
The further development of the investigation is awaited with interest. The success of the experiments hitherto is regarded as a striking proof of the value of the new engine of research which liquid air affords.

Diplomacy in Begging.

MISS MOORE RECEIVES

The Most Largely Attended Social Affair of the Month.

Informal in Its Arrangements But Highly Enjoyable in All Its Details.

The reception given by Miss Belle Moore last evening, at her commodious home on 16th street, was without doubt one of the pleasantest events of the summer season in Hopkinsville society.

It was an informal negligee reception, the cards stating that the guests were not expected to wear evening dress. Many of the young ladies were attired in lawns and shirt waists and the young gentlemen likewise left their evening suits at home, but the affair was brilliant nevertheless and elegant in the hospitality extended to the many guests.

The charming hostess, Miss Belle Moore, was assisted in the duties of receiving by Misses Edith Boulware, Madge Fairleigh, Mary Moore and Francis Coulter, of California, the guest in whose honor the house was opened.

Until the late hour at which the guests dispersed, the spacious rooms were alive with the gay and congenial throng, who had gathered to enjoy the evening. The reception was in every sense a pronounced success and all who were so fortunate as to be present enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

Delightful refreshments were served during the evening.

Those present were:

Misses:—Allie Bottomley, Louisville, Ky. Susie Brown, Shelbyville, Ky. Mary Wheeler, St. Louis. Robbie Caruthers, Lafayette, Ky. Bessie Russell, Sara Mason, Ritchie Burnett, Jennie Winfree. Now Under Headway.

The camp meeting at Herman church, near Trenton, is now under full headway and there have already been a number of conversions. Large crowds attend each service and interest in the meeting is increasing. Dr. Carradine, of St. Louis, is being assisted by Rev. J. O. McClurkin, of Nashville, and others. Prayer service is held at 6 o'clock each morning, and at 9:30 there is a special testimonial service. This is followed at 10:30 by a regular morning sermon. At 2:30 p. m. there is another testimonial service and at 3:30 the regular afternoon sermon follows.

There is preaching again at night.

WANTS $500 DAMAGES.

Mrs. Lucy Boales Sues the Hopkinsville Water Co.

Mrs. Lucy Boales, through her attorneys, has filed suit for $500 damages against the Hopkinsville Water Co. She owns a farm on the west bank of Little River, just above the water company's dam, on which were three springs of pure cold water of great value, she alleges. She further states in her petition that a dam was erected by defendant, causing the water to back up and subjecting same to overflow, rendering the water in the springs unfit for use, and forming ponds of stagnant water on the premises, all of which she alleges is unlawful and wrongful. She prays damages in the above sum, with costs of action.

Will Be No Camp Fleeting.

It has finally been decided not to hold the annual camp meeting at Sebree Springs this year. These meetings have always drawn very large crowds to the springs, but it was thought best to have no meeting there this season. The springs are now enjoying a fairly good patronage and business is expected to be much better from now on to the close of the summer season. Several Hopkinsville people are there and others will go down this week.

Better Sales This Week.

Nearly five hundred hogheads of tobacco were sold on the market this week. Some very good leaf was disposed of at prices ranging from $8 to $12. No fine leaf with its appearance this week. Low leaf and lugs brought very satisfactory prices and the sales were made up largely of these grades. Rejections were frequent, but the sales, taking them all round, were better than those of last week. The last year's crop of the weed is rapidly passing out of the hands of the seller and but very little of the old crop will be left on hand when the new crop is ready to be worked up.

Life Prisoner Loses His Mind.

Francis Milligan, a life prisoner, who has been confined in the Eddyville penitentiary for the past six years, was adjudged of unsound mind a few days ago and brought to the asylum here last night. Milligan was sent up from Graves county for wife-murder. He committed the deed about ten years ago, but was not put in the pen until four years afterward. His mind had been afflicted for about two years. Milligan was brought here by Mr. R. H. Kerr, one of the guards, who returned this afternoon.

Webber Couldn't Do.

Maj. Jno. W. Breathitt, grandfather of private Webber Breathitt, has received a letter from the young man who is sick in the hospital, saying he is unable to accompany the regiment to the front, much to his regret. Maj. Breathitt's son, Gus Breathitt and his other grandson, James M. Breathitt, are on their way with the Kentucky boys to Porto Rico. The former who is a corporal is a veteran of the civil war, having entered the Union army at sixteen years of age. Ed Buchanan, who was sick so long, was able to go with his company.

Quarterly Court Matters.

In the Quarterly Court this morning Walter I. Dulin, of Hopkins county, who had been acting as guardian for Walter M. and Mattie L. West, children of the late W. M. West, resigned and Mr. M. V. Dulin, of Crofton, was appointed in his stead. The latter accepted the trust by qualifying, with Mr. E. B. Long and Mrs. Lou R. West, as securities.

Sheriff J. J. Barnes was allowed $22 for services in the court during the month of July.

On a Plea of Guilty.

Squire Wallace and Ad Reese, both colored, were arrested by Officer Wadlington this afternoon and taken before Judge Cansler on a charge of shooting craps. They entered a plea of guilty and were each fined $20 and costs. They were given time in which to pay. They said that they had engaged in a game of "bones" just outside the city limits Sunday.

Wants to be a Clerk.

Esq. F. I. Frazer, recently a justice of the peace at Lafayette, is an applicant for one of the clerkships at the Eddyville penitentiary. He is a very capable man and a clever gentleman and his appointment would give satisfaction to the Democrats of this county, who have so far secured no recognition.

Literary Club Organized.

A number of ladies met this morning at Mr. Geo. V. Green's and organized a literary club, which will meet every Wednesday for literary study. Mrs. S. A. Edmunds was elected President. Mrs. Max Moayon Vice-President and Mrs. Jeff D. Morris Secretary.

FINE $30 AND COSTS.

What It Cost Ed White to Slash Clinton Boales' Arm.

Edwin White, the negro boy who cut Clinton Boales, another colored boy, on the arm yesterday evening, and whose capture was reported, was tried before Judge Leavell at 4 o'clock and fined $30 and costs for breach of peace. He paid a part of the amount and satisfied the rest and was released. He got off light.

FINE FARM DONATED

For a Home For the Ex-Confederates of Kentucky.

From a gentleman residing at Lawrenceburg, who arrived in the city to-day, says Monday's Louisville Times, it was learned that Mrs. James McGuire has privately announced her intention of giving her fine farm and home, situated on turnpike, midway between Lawrenceburg and Frankfort, for the future home of the Kentucky ex-Confederate soldiers. Mrs. McGuire was formerly a Miss Wheat, and is one of the best-known and most charitable ladies of Central Kentucky. The farm is one of the largest and finest in its vicinity.

Lost His Breaches.

Passengers on the early train to Louisville last Wednesday morning noticed that the berth was kept up all the way to the city, and supposed there was a sick man in it. This was a mistake, however. C. M. Bullitt, a grain dealer of Henderson had been to St. Louis, and on his way home was robbed of his pants and $40 and did not find it out till almost home. He had to remain on the train and telegraph his brother to meet him at the depot with the needed garment.—Madisonville Mail.

THE RUSSELL REUNION.

A Pleasant Family Gathering at Elkton Last Friday.

Last week we made mention of the visit of Mr. J. D. Russell to Elkton to attend a family reunion. The following account is from the Progress of Tuesday:

"The surviving family of Uncle Jimmie Russell held a reunion in this city Friday which proved a delightful occasion. On that day all the children met at the residence of Mrs. Mary Woodard and partook of a family dinner. There were present the three boys, J. D. Russell, Hopkinsville; C. M. Russell, Bowling Green; Robt. N. Russell, San Francisco, Cal.; four girls, Mrs. Mary Woodard, Mrs. Nannie Grumbley, Mrs. Hogan and Miss Maggie Russell, all of this county. During the day Artist Ebeling made a group picture which was a splendid likeness of the family. The total weight of the seven children is 1,345 pounds."

Christian County Got Left.

Christian county had two applicants for positions as guards at the Eddyville penitentiary but unless some changes are to be made in the published list, both of them have been left without a show of success. They are Messrs. L. L. Nichols and T. J. Tandy, both capable men and staunch Democrats. Their friends would have been glad to see one or both of them secure a place.

Yesterday's Hard Rain.

The rainfall Tuesday was 1.17 inches from 7 a. m. until 7 a. m. this morning. This added to the fall of the day before, made nearly two inches of rain in this city and the fall seems to have been general throughout this entire section. It was enough to insure a very fine corn crop, as even late planting is now in the ear and the prospect was never better.

Weather Forecasts.
